

Image captions

Image	File name	Caption
	RichardBrink_Josephs Hospital_01.jpg	The new seven-storey extension building recently added to Josephs-Hospital in Warendorf houses not only an A&E department but also an intensive care unit and modern patient rooms. Photo: Richard Brink GmbH & Co. KG
	RichardBrink_Josephs Hospital_02.jpg	When planning the extension, importance was also placed on the design of the outdoor space. The goal was to create a green area that could be enjoyed by patients, staff and visitors alike. Photo: Richard Brink GmbH & Co. KG
	RichardBrink_Josephs Hospital_03.jpg	Large-scale, custom-made raised beds from the company Richard Brink with matching seating make for an inviting spot to watch the world go by. Photo: Richard Brink GmbH & Co. KG
	RichardBrink_Josephs Hospital_04.jpg	The metal products manufacturer produced a total of 100m of its raised bed walls from aluminium to create four raised beds. Photo: Richard Brink GmbH & Co. KG

Image captions

RichardBrink_Josephs
Hospital_05.jpg

Benches featuring wooden seats were colour coordinated with the beds to form one harmonious whole.

Photo: Richard Brink GmbH & Co. KG

RichardBrink_Josephs
Hospital_06.jpg

The raised design of the planting systems runs the entire length of the area, separating the green space from the car park.

Photo: Richard Brink GmbH & Co. KG

RichardBrink_Josephs
Hospital_07.jpg

Evergreen plants, such as the extensive lavender bed shown here, make for an attractive display year-round.

Photo: Richard Brink GmbH & Co. KG