

Image captions

Image

File name

Caption

RichardBrink_Purmerend_01

In the Dutch town of Purmerend, on top of the car park that sits below the Lusthof residential complex, a rooftop garden has been created which features bushes, shrubs and trees, and is traversed by paths made of Padvast, a gravel surface bound by clay.

Photo: Richard Brink GmbH & Co. KG

RichardBrink_Purmerend_02A

Positioned between the vast flowerbeds and modern façades of the publicly accessible outdoor area, picnic tables invite visitors to wind down in the oasis of calm that forms the heart of the housing complex.

RichardBrink_Purmerend_02B

Photos: Richard Brink GmbH & Co. KG

Image captions

---

RichardBrink_Purmerend_03A

Stabile drainage channels from the company Richard Brink were installed as part of the space's newly designed irrigation and dewatering system. The channels ensure the controlled drainage of accumulating precipitation directly into the surrounding flowerbeds.

RichardBrink_Purmerend_03B

Photos: Richard Brink GmbH & Co. KG

RichardBrink_Purmerend_04A

As they trace the lines of the façades, the channels provided by the metal products manufacturer from Eastern Westphalia intentionally highlight the exterior wall projections in the door and reveal areas.

RichardBrink_Purmerend_04B

Photos: Richard Brink GmbH & Co. KG

Image captions

---

RichardBrink_Purmerend_05A

Together with the colourful clinker walls and large-scale greenery, the housing complex now boasts appealing and contrasting colour combinations, which are further accentuated by the perforated gratings.

RichardBrink_Purmerend_05B

Photos: Richard Brink GmbH & Co. KG